Behavioral Health In Home (BHIH)

Youth for Change has a mission to enhance the well being of children, families, individuals and communities.

The Youth for Change Difference

Youth for Change believes that the best place for a child is with his or her family. When a family is in crisis and unable to meet a child's need for safety and health, Youth for Change makes every effort to provide support, skills and resources to help reunify this family in a healthy and nurturing way. We strive to provide a supportive, encouraging, family-like environment and are dedicated to all aspects of the child.

We believe positive change can happen, allowing families to become stronger and self-sufficient.

Behavioral Health In Home (BHIH) is an in-home parenting education program offered to Butte County families. Parents who want to improve their parenting skills can work with an in-home parent educator to improve their relationship with their child(ren) and enhance their family support system. BHIH offers parent support, parent-child activities and works with parents to develop parenting techniques that offer positive results.

Positive Outcomes

Your relationship with your child will strengthen as you learn to problem solve and advocate for your family. Your family may benefit by learning to:

- Communicate your needs in a loving, positive manner.
- Express emotions appropriately.
- Enhance your family support systems.
- Use discipline effectively.
- Handle stressful times and celebrate through family time and laughter.
- Participate in exploring the world together.
- Focus on solutions rather than on problems.

Eligibility

The program is voluntary and is facilitated by Youth for Change in collaboration with the Butte County Department of Behavioral Health and other service providers.

Families are referred by a Mental Health Clinician from various organizations.

Referrals can include parents (biological or step), grandparents, foster parents, uncles/aunts raising children, teen parents, single parents, etc.

To be eligible, the child(ren) must have Full Scope Medi-Cal and meet medical necessity.
